Late Night at Lilly

Do you prefer doing research in the wee hours? Stop by and introduce yourself to Dave Munden, Lilly's late night reference librarian. Dave is on duty Sunday through Thursday from 8pm to 1:45AM! He is available to assist with your difficult research questions and to provide general information about how to use the library. Dave's counterpart on the Perkins late night shift is Stephanie Ford. You can get reference questions answered by Stephanie or Dave in person, by phone, or via the libraries' chat service, Sunday through Thursday until midnight at <http://library.duke.edu/research/help/>.

Librarian in the House

Research your term paper in jammies and slippers! Look for the Librarian in the House, who will be coming to your neighborhood soon. We'll be wired in your dorm commons room in the evening, with laptop and printer, ready to help with research needs. Save time—ask us!

iTunes habit costing big $$$?

If you come across a recording or DVD that you think would be a good addition to the Music Media Center's holdings—especially non-classical music titles—please let us know at <http://www.lib.duke.edu/colldev/ask4book.htm>. Free to you and legal too!

Everyone's Talking about Endnote

Come find out why at Lilly Library's Introduction to Endnote workshops: Monday, 15 November, 6:30-8pm, and Tuesday, 30 November, 4:30-6pm, in the Lilly Training Room, with more sessions to be announced.

- Create your own searchable library database of up to 32,000 citations
- Download search results from most library catalogs or databases
- Add your own notes, terms, and fields
- Use EndNote with word processing software to create bibliographies
- Write your manuscript with EndNote and format the entire document in the bibliographic style of your choice

Questions? Contact Greta Boers at greta.boers@duke.edu or Carson Holloway at carson.holloway@duke.edu.

Musical Study Break at the Music Library

If the stress of homework is getting to you, and you want to make use of those years of piano or violin lessons, stop by the Music Library and check out one or more of our musical scores. Then head down to the practice rooms on the lower level of the Biddle Building and enjoy the music (now that your Mom isn't forcing you to practice). Why not form a small group and have fun reading a few trios or quartets? We have music for all types of instruments.

Staff Notes

Jamie Vermillion has joined the Music Library and Media Center as the new student and stacks manager. Jamie has an interest in many types of music and is very excited to be part of the East Campus Libraries. Say hi to him the next time you swing by!

Staff Picks

From Amer Baloch, Library Assistant, Music Library

- Music DVD 69, Yo Yo Ma's critically acclaimed Appalachian Journey: Live in Concert!
- Music DVD 84, Roots, Rock, Reggae: Inside the Jamaican Music Scene—a fascinating glimpse into the heart of reggae music and Rastafarian culture.
- Music DVD 182, Bill Monroe: Father of Bluegrass Music.
- Music CD 3926, Bill Evans: the Complete Fantasy Recordings—a master exhibiting patience AND modal complexity. Great introduction to piano jazz.
- Music CD 8734, Roots' Phrenology—live instrument hip-hop pioneers.
- Music CD 9540, Charlie Christian's Complete Live Recordings—from the definitive jazz guitar player whose style is still being emulated today.

Lilly's the Place to be During Finals Week!

- Beginning at 8am on 3 December, Lilly Library will be open 24/7 until the last scheduled exam begins
- What could be better for marathon study sessions than big mugs of coffee? From Sunday to Thursday night of finals week, Lilly will be serving coffee from 12-2am. Bring your own container and fill up! Co-sponsored by East Campus Libraries Outreach and East Campus Residence Life
- Join the Lilly staff from 8pm to 10pm on Sunday, 5 December, for a study break. Enjoy home-baked goodies courtesy of the Lilly staff and an opportunity to view selections from Lilly's video collection. Co-sponsored by Lilly Library and the Friends of the Duke University Libraries.

Clip from the Lilly Film/Video Collection

Check out the DVDs distributed by Film Movement and see award-winning new releases from around the world. With our Film Movement subscription a new title arrives every month. Each includes a bonus short film—like Sophia Coppola's Lick the Star included on DVD 2784. Abundanza, indie film lovers!

(Hint for searching the catalog: go to "Advanced Search"; limit "format" to "Film/Video"; choose "Author" from dropdown menu and search "film movement"; click on title to get the full record and a short summary of the film.)

Got Jazz?

Looking for that historic jazz recording not available on CD? Prefer the warm sound quality of analog recordings over the sound of digital CDs? Check out the Music Media Center's large LP (aka record) collection of over 12,000 LP recordings of all kinds of music. Not every LP recording is displayed in the online catalog, so if you can't find something, ask the Media Center staff for assistance in using the LP card catalog.

Exhibit of Nusbaum Gift

Next time you walk through Lilly's lobby take a look at the exhibit of materials donated by Barbara Nusbaum, wife of the late Herbert Nusbaum, Duke Class of 1936. Mr. Nusbaum was a film buff who taught extension classes in film at UCLA for many years. His collection includes books on film and feature films on video-cassette and 8mm. Lilly is grateful to Mrs. Nusbaum for the generous donation in honor of her husband.

Did You Know...

That Duke faculty, students, and staff can reserve Lilly videos to show in class and to use in classroom presentations—even limited circulation videos or titles on reserve? Use our online request form: www.lib.duke.edu/lilly/VideoResForms/showingres.html.

Student Spotlight: Dock Voorhies III

Dock has been working for Lilly Library since his freshman year. He hails from Shreveport, Louisiana, and is constantly on the lookout for spicy food. Dock is an AVID sports fan and recently took up tennis—watch out Andy Roddick. He's majoring in Psychology, with a minor in AAAS, and is slated to graduate in 2006. According to his Lilly supervisor, Yunyi Wang, who doesn't give compliments lightly, Dock's work is very, very good: "We're lucky to have him."

- Favorite task in the library: delivering books to departments on East Campus
- Favorite Lilly video: tie between Sopranos and Sex and the City
- Thing he misses most from home: Popeye's fast food (spicy, remember?)
- Weirdest item seen in Lilly lost & found: photo of Chris Duhon drinking an unidentified beverage
