Gen. Parker Will Speak At War Day

Brigadier General Edwin P. Parker, Jr., commanding officer of the Field Artillery Regiment, will be the guest speaker at the annual War Day rally on May 15. Announcement of General Parker's acceptance of the invitation to address the student rally in connection with the War Day celebrations was made this morning by Kemp Jones, president of the Y.M.C.A. and general chairman of the student faculty committee in charge of the War Day program.

Major Wallace Wade, Duke's head football coach, now on leave of absence from the university to serve with the field artillery at Fort Bragg, will introduce General Parker to the crowd at the rally. Another distinguished visitor from Fort Bragg, Lieutenant Colonel J. C. Butler, commanding the second regiment of the field artillery, has been invited to attend the rally as a special guest and will be present on the stage with the speakers. President H. B. Flowers will probably preside at the rally.

General Parker, a native of Williams, Va., served in Panama and commanded the second brigade of the field artillery regiment, stationed at Camp Bragg, Ga., during the first World War. He had been appointed a second lieutenant from civilian life in 1912. He was one of the collaborators in planning the present series of military instruction training centers. General Parker was promoted to major in 1914, and was appointed brigadier general on November 6, 1941.

General Parker's speech at a mass student rally in the stadium on a full day of patriotic programs is being met with great enthusiasm in the national capital. It is expected that the activities will be a religious service at which former Duke men will be honored; a parade of students led by the Duke ROTC, the Duke Band, and the American Legion; the giant rally in the stadium; a lawn supper; and a dance.

Class to Bar No Holds In Will and Woolly Sing

Freeman will release their inhibitions and be restrained for eight months at the Sing Sunday night.

The singing reports, the affair will be a wild and woolly one, with no holds barred. It will be featured, Jim Davis, president of the class, will be master of ceremonies.

The main act of the evening will be a burlesque of "The Singing" by the team of Hoof and Horn presentation, which is itself a burlesque. A second act will be under the direction of J. Foster Barnes.

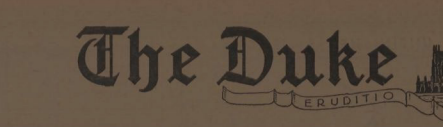

Library Finally Has Needed Light; Fluorescent Units Now Installed

Seventeen new fluorescent lights have been installed in 15 of the 150 power outlets, necessary for lighting in library study rooms.

The last of the seventeen fixtures, with five foot long, with twin lamps of two inches diameter in each unit, were installed early this week. First installation was made about two weeks ago. The fixtures were made by the W. H. Whitford, head of the building and grounds department, installed in the study rooms from the south of the old unit.

Earliest recognition of the inadequacy of the lighting in the library, although particularly in the undergraduate reserve room, came late last November, when a General Electric light, made with a General Electric light bulb, was found to be out of order.

Room Priority Ends May 15

Reservation deadline for students who wish to retain their present rooms for the fall semester will be May 15 according to an announcement by W. E. Whitford, head of the rooming office.

After May 15, all unreserved rooms will be open to the general student body for registration. Students desiring to reserve rooms for the fall semester must pay a $25 reservation fee at the time of their request for the rooming office.

Those students who are certain that their present rooming will not return next year, but who wish to retain their present room, may select their rooming for the fall and both must pay the deadline.

All fraternities that are contracting all or part of their rooming should have their list of rooms to be occupied in the fall for the rooming office by May 1. Whitford stated.

Krummel Says Blackout Violation Unintentional

By JOHN BALDWIN

"I fully approve of the blackout, as a precautionary measure against the possibility of a national emergency anything might happen," Krummel stated.

Charles A. Krummel, faculty in a Durham court in the region, in a statement to the Chronicle yesterday.

Krummel, a member of the German department of the university for over twenty years, was brought out Wednesday morning at a court hearing.

The faculty members, however, were found guilty of a violation of the law, and Krummel said that he was not guilty of a violation of the law.

Spring Formal Replaces Gala May Day Show

A war-canceled Duke campus will once again celebrate May Day today, but for the first time in many years the traditional gala festivities will be gone in favor of the less expensive, more and more popular Spring Formal.

Sponsored jointly by the Men's and Women's Pan-Hellenic councils, this dance is the first formal WSAB dance of the year, lasting from 8 o'clock to 11 o'clock.

Due to WSAB policy of low-cost entertainment, the lavish splendor of former May Day celebrations has been done away with, excepting for the annual selection of the May Queen. Dotie Silvers has been chosen to be the May Queen.

In previous years, the May Day celebration was an all-day affair with outdoor dancing, music and socializing. This year, the celebration will be a formal affair with a dinner and a dance.

A colorful pageant, the May Day procession, annual athletic trials, and a variety of other events will be held on the campus.

Those students who are certain that their present rooming will not return next year, but who wish to retain their present room, may select their rooming for the fall and both must pay the deadline.

Fifth Registration Set for May 11

All Undergraduates Will Register During Week

Registration for the undergraduate students of the university will take place the week of May 11, according to a statement released by the administration.

As the schedule stands, rising senior men and women will register on class Monday and Tuesday; rising juniors, Wednesday and Thursday; and rising sophomores, Friday and Saturday.

The dates for the women's registration will be from 8 a. m. to 12:30 p. m. and from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m.

The play itself deals with the trials and tribulations of a personal struggle and his long of suffering family. As traditional as its theme, the play has been presented on Broadway several times and once before was given at Duke.

The cast includes Charles Williams as Simon Slide, Harvey Bullock as Harvey Green, and Joe Katz as the drunkard, Joe Morgan.

Female leads are taken by Ann Barry as Melba Carver, Marjorie Collier as Mrs. Morgan, and Mary Doll in the immortal role of Little Mary Morgan. Other parts are taken by William Hardy, Ken Starr, Arthur Hillegas, and Frances Johnson.

Union Head Gives Reply to Students

The Union problem appeared several steps nearer solution today with a statement issued by Jim Thomson, head of the University Unions, in which he expressed his willingness to "do everything within my power to remedy some of the things now existing in the Union as it exists to the student."

Statement following the presentation of a list of suggestions for improvement of the Union by a special committee formed to investigate student dissatisfaction with the Union, in an attempt to alleviate a condition which precipitated the violent revolt of Monday noon.

The committee, which was formed immediately following Monday's uprising, urged in its list of suggestions "better planning of the Union's affairs, a more equitable distribution of the Union's funds, and a more equitable distribution of the Union's funds."

Thompson emphasized that higher prices today put a definite strain on the Union, and that which may be served. In support of his statement, he quoted figures showing that prices paid for many of the major items used have doubled in amount during the past year. For example, he said that whereas the Union paid 7 to 8 cents per pound for lamb in 1941, it now pays 16 to 18 cents per pound.

of sugar in April of this year
the Union used only 9,000 pounds. Now, however, the sugar rationing board has ruled that only 6,130 pounds will be allocated to all three of the Union, the men's, women's, and South-and June.

In answer to other recommendations of the committee Thompson stated that he would strive to improve the condition of glasses,
silver, dishes, and all equipment,
and that he would demand that both full-time and student help improve their personal appear-

An immediate raising of the price of Union meal tickets at this time was not considered advisable by administration representatives, because such action would constitute a breach of the "moral contract" existing between the university and the students, and would work a hardship on many unable to pay the higher price. Contrary to widespread campus belief, it was further emphasized that the Union is not being operated at a large profit, but has been run at a loss for the past five months and will probably continue to do so if present conditions prevail.
